Site Manager on Trial for Manslaughter

RWE Technology's chief task is to build new facilities for RWE's power generation companies, ensuring that the Group's new power stations are among the most advanced and cost-efficient in their class in Europe – now and in the future. At the same time, RWE Technology takes active steps to fulfil its huge responsibility for health and safety, the environment and climate protection. It makes sure these key criteria are at the heart of the construction process and subsequent operation of the new facilities.

Every accident on a building site is associated with personal suffering, which affects work colleagues and family alike. Aside from the moral and professional duty that we all hold to our employees, accidents also interrupt the construction work and may result in financial losses. If the construction industry can safely control work activities better, it may prove to be value adding in that employees are healthier and potential financial losses are prevented – Good Health and Safety means Good Business.

This event is presented by Working Well Together and RWE Technology (UK) Ltd, and supported by Morgan Cole Solicitors and Alstom Power. You will gain an invaluable insight into your responsibilities as a manager and how it could affect your life.

Please ensure that at least one of your colleagues attends this very informative and interactive day – this is seen as a must for all managers working within the construction environment.
